Choose the best one and mark your answer on the ANSWER SHEET with a single bar through the centre of the letter that indicates your choice.*

Passage One

There is something hard to resist about cherries. The small red fruit is a popular seasonal food around the world. Cherries are thought to be native to western Asia. It is a member of the same family of plants as the rose. It is closely related to the plum. Like cherry trees, plum trees also flower in early spring.

There are two major kinds of cherries harvested in the world: sweet and sour. Sour cherries are not eaten fresh because they contain little sugar. Instead, they are processed to make prepared foods like jellies and pies and to make alcoholic drinks. The United States is a major producer of sour cherries. Among the states, Michigan is the top producer. Russia, Poland and Turkey are other important cherry-producing nations. Sweet cherries contain much more sugar than their sour relatives and are usually eaten fresh. Washington State is the biggest American producer, followed by California and Oregon. The United States, Iran and Turkey are major producers of sweet cherries. Fresh cherries do not store well. They must reach market as soon as possible. So they cost more than many other kinds of fresh fruit.

Farmers produce different kinds of cherries through the process of grafting(嫁接). They take cuttings from existing trees and join them to related trees. The cuttings grow into the root stock, so the two kinds of trees grow as one.

Cherry trees are also valued for their springtime blossoms. Cherry blossoms are popular in many parts of Asia and Europe, especially in Japan. But Washington, D.C., has some of the most famous cherry trees in the world. Japan gave the United States 3,500 cherry trees in 1912 as a gift of friendship. Years later Japan gave another gift of 3,800 trees. In the early nineteen eighties, the United States provided Japan with cuttings to help replace Japanese trees lost in a flood.

11. What plant family does the cherry belong to?

 - B. they should be transported by air

Passage Two

What are the differences between public and private in American higher education? A big difference involves money. Public colleges and universities charge for an education just like private schools. But state schools cost less because they get money from the states that started them to educate local citizens. As a result, out-of-state and international students usually pay more than state residents, at least the first year.

The state with the most residents, almost forty million, is California. Its systems of two-year and four-year colleges and universities are among the largest in the world. But the example we are going to focus on today is to the north of California, in a much smaller state on the West Coast: Oregon.

The University of Oregon, located in Eugene, is one of the campuses in the Oregon University System. The cost for undergraduates this year is $6,000 for state residents. Housing is an additional $8,000. Non-residents pay the same for housing—but almost $20,000 for tuition and fees.

Let's see how these numbers compare to a private college in Oregon.

Lewis and Clark College in Portland has 4,000 students, compared to 20,000 at the University of Oregon. Housing costs $800 more than at the state school. But the big difference is tuition. The published price at Lewis and Clark is almost $34,000.

Yet Lewis and Clark is one of the few American colleges to offer financial aid for international students. Each year it awards financial aid to twenty students from other countries. And it says the average award last year was 19,000 dollars. That would make Lewis and Clark cheaper for international students than the University of Oregon.

But, of course, prices alone do not say anything about the quality of a school or the value of an education.

16. One of the differences between public and private universities is _____.
A. private universities are usually smaller than the public ones
B. attending private universities is less expensive
C. public universities require foreign student to pay more tuitions
D. public universities provide more financial aids to foreign students
17. According to the passage, the Oregon University System _____.
A. is located in Eugene
B. is part of the University of Oregon
C. charges more tuition this year
D. has campuses in different places
18. This year a foreign undergraduate student in the University of Oregon should pay _____.
A. an additional $8,000 for the tuition
B. as much as the state residents
C. less than a state resident if they can get financial aid
D. $14,000 more than state residents
19. The costs of tuition and housing in Lewis and Clark College are _____.
A. both more expensive than in the University of Oregon
B. cheaper for foreign student than in the University of Oregon
C. the same as that in the University of Oregon
D. cheaper than those of the University of Oregon for the state residents
20. We can conclude from the passage that the cost and the quality of a university are _____.
A. the more the better
B. the more the worse
C. not necessarily related
D. closely related

Passage Three

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month in the United States. The observance seeks to educate the public about this issue which affects millions of people each year.

Five years ago, the United Nations published results of a study about domestic violence. It found that as many as 275 million children worldwide witness violence in the home. These boys and girls represent a secret society of sufferers. Officials say they are the forgotten victims of domestic violence.

Research shows such children face a greater risk of problems in school, emotional disorders, and drug abuse, among other things. Many children who witness violence at home grow up to become abusers or victims themselves. That is why the UN Children's Fund calls domestic violence "one of the most important human rights challenges of our times."

The congressional hearing was held last week to educate American policy makers about the problem.

Domestic violence is defined as any form of behavior used to gain power or control over another person. It can include verbal, emotional, physical or sexual abuse.

The National Institute of Justice and The Centers for Disease Control say one in four American women will suffer some form of domestic violence in her lifetime. One and a half million women are physically attacked or raped each year. In the United States, three women die each day because of violence in the home.

The problem is believed to be even more widespread than these numbers suggest. Many cases of domestic violence are never reported. Victims often feel responsible for the abuse they suffer. They also experience a strong sense of shame or dishonor.

This is even truer among men, who are less likely to report abuse. Studies show that one in thirteen men in the United States is a victim of domestic violence.

Domestic Violence Awareness Month seeks to bring these issues out into the open, and to get more people involved in finding a solution. Officials say knowing the facts about domestic violence may help save lives and end the cycle of violence.

24. According to the report of The National Institute of Justice and The Centers for Disease Control, _____.

Passage Four

Earlier this month, researcher Kevin Beaver of Florida State University reported that he and his co-authors had identified genetic markers associated with academic achievement. In their study, published in the journal Developmental Psychology, the scientists found that young people who possessed particular forms of three genes were more likely to finish high school and go on to college than those who carried other forms of the genes. The newly found genes are involved in regulating the actions in the brain, and have been linked in other studies to levels of motivation, attention and intelligence.

It is true that in recent years, scientists have produced a growing number of studies linking the capacity to learn to specific genes. A team at King's College London, for example, has published several articles relating ability in mathematics to different varieties in DNA. Children who carried 10 or more of the "risk" genes identified by the researchers were nearly twice as likely to perform poorly in math, according to a 2010 study generated by the group. In another experiment, scientists reported that some individuals possess another two forms of genes involved in brain development that may make it easier for them to learn difficult languages like Chinese.

But scientists have long warned against attributing complex human behaviors to the action of a few genes — and learning is among the most complex things we do. The authors of these studies acknowledge this. "Mathematical ability and disability are influenced by many forms of genes generating small effects across the entire system of ability," writes Sophia Docherty, who heads the King's College team. Moreover, environment matters, even in the context of genes: Docherty's research finds that children with the "risk" forms of genes were especially likely to do poorly in math when they lived inchaotic homes and had negative, punitive(惩罚性的)parents.More generally research indicates that genetic factors account for about half of the elements in educational achievement.

26. Scientists found that _____.
 A. everyone is born the same in the ability of learning
 B. genes can not affect people's performance in learning
 C. there are some genes which make people learn better
 D. genes are decisive factors for learning better
27. Some children perform poorly in mathematics probably because _____.
 A. they don't have good genes for learning mathematics
 B. they have laid a weak foundation in learning mathematics
 C. their parents neglected the child's early education in mathematics
 D. their mathematics programs are too difficult for them
28. Scientists also found that _____.
 A. some individuals possess completely different forms of genes
 B. some people are born with talent in learning language
 C. learning behaviors are complex to attribute the roles of genes
 D. mathematics is the most complex human brain action
29. The word "chaotic" probably means _____.
 A. lower educated
 B. in complete disorder and confusion
 C. looking after children poorly
 D. not in harmony
30. We can conclude that _____.

Part IV Translation (25 minutes, 15 points)

Directions: Translate the following passage into Chinese and put your translation on the ANSWER SHEET.

Of course a certain amount of dependence on others is not only good, but necessary. Children must be dependent on their parents; and the weak must depend on the strong, and the sick on the well. And in a sense, all of us, even the most independent and self-reliant, are dependent on one another. At any rate, in civilized society, it is impossible for anyone to make all the things he needs. No man can produce all the food and clothes he wants. He can only produce one or two things, and must get all the others by exchange or purchase from others, who are doing the same thing. So in a community everyone is dependent on the service of others, while he himself contributes to the needs of others.

Passage One

Many older Americans spend their final years in a nursing home or assisted living center.

These places provide services that help older adults with activities they can no longer do on their own. However, most people say they would like to remain in their own homes. Now, there are nonprofit groups that help them do that.

Philip Smith is ninety-one years old and lives with his wife in an old house in Seattle, Washington. And he wants to keep it that way. He always says: "As far as I'm concerned, I would not like to leave this place. Living in a group situation is something I couldn't tolerate. I'd kill myself before I had to do that."

Mr. Smith says now he and his wife can take good care of themselves in their two-level house. But he and his wife know they will soon need help with simple housework. Work like changing a light bulb that hangs at the top of the stairs. In the past, an older American would ask one of their children or a neighborhood teenager to change the light bulb. But here, those young helpers have grown up and gone. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have three children, but they all live in other states. So they are considering joining a "virtual village." This is a local group of volunteers and service providers that help older adults. They might help these adults with anything from transportation to small home repairs and dog walking.

The virtual village idea was first developed about ten years ago in Boston, Massachusetts. The idea has spread to an unofficial network of villages around the country. One hundred fifty are currently in development.

 - B. their children are married and busy all the time
 - C. their children have grown up and long gone
 - D. traditionally, children have no responsibility to help their parents
13. What volunteer service for the seniors is not mentioned in the passage?
 - A. Providing ride for them.
 - B. Changing light bulbs for them.
 - C. Taking their dogs for a walk.
 - D. Cooking meals for them.
14. What is the idea of "virtual village"?
 - A. Building more nursing home in the countryside.
 - B. Seniors live in their own home with the help of volunteers.
 - C. Arranging older people to live in group situations.

- D. Encouraging children to live with their older parents together.
15. The difference between nursing home and virtual village is that _____.
- A. the former provides help for older people with activities
- B. the former provides medical treatment for the older people

Passage Two

Do American children still learn handwriting in school? In this age of the keyboard, some people seem to think handwriting lessons are on the way out.

We asked Professor Steve Graham at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee. He told us that he has been hearing about the death of handwriting for the past fifteen years. He said: "If the results of a survey we had published this year are accurate, it is being taught by about ninety percent of teachers in grades one to three."

Ninety percent of teachers also say they are required to teach handwriting. But studies have yet to answer the question of how well they are teaching it. Professor Graham said: "One study published this year found that about three out of every four teachers say they are not prepared to teach handwriting."

And then when you look at how it's taught, you have some teachers who are teaching handwriting by providing instruction for ten, fifteen minutes a day, and then other teachers who basically teach it for sixty to seventy minutes a day—which really for handwriting is pretty much death."

Many adults remember learning that way—by copying letters over and over again. Today's thinking is that short periods of practice are better. Many experts also think handwriting should not be taught by itself. Instead, they say it should be used as a way to get students to express ideas. After all, that is why we write.

Handwriting involves two skills. One is legibility, which means forming the letters so they can be read. The other is fluency—writing without having to think about it. Experts say fluency continues to develop up until high school.

But not everyone masters these skills. Teachers commonly report that about one-fourth of their kids have poor handwriting. Some people might think handwriting is not important anymore because of computers and voice recognition programs.

But Steve Graham at Vanderbilt said: "Word processing is rarely done in elementary school, especially in the early years. Even with high school teachers, we find that less than fifty percent of assignments are done via word processing or with word processing. And, in fact, if we added in taking notes and doing tests in class, most of the writing done in school is done by hand."

16. Some people think handwriting lessons are out of date ,because _____.
 A. handwriting lessons take too much of their time
 B. handwriting lessons are boring for kids
 C. they write little at present time
 D. they write through computers not by handwriting
17. According to the survey published by professor Steve Graham _____.
 A. most teachers in grades one to three still teach handwriting
 B. 3/4 teachers say they are not prepared to teach handwriting
 C. most students in grades one to three have learned handwriting well
 D. most teachers think handwriting should not be taught by itself
18. Students will learn handwriting well by _____.
 A. learning by themselves
 B. practicing it once in a short time
 C. practicing it more than an hour a day
 D. copying letters over and over again
19. The purpose for us to write is to _____.
 A. communicate with others

 A. are on the way out

Passage Four

Did your mum and dad go to university, or did they leave school and go straight to the Job Centre? The educational experience of parents is still important when it comes to how today's students choose an area of study and what to do after graduation, according to The Future-track research in the UK.

The research was done by the Higher Education Careers Service Unit. It plans to follow university applicants for six years from 2006 through their early careers.

The first year's findings come from a study of 130,000 university applicants. They show significant differences in prospective students' approach to higher education, depending on whether their parents got degrees (second-generation applicants) or didn't (first-generation applicants).

First-generation applicants were more likely to say that their career and employment prospects were uppermost in their minds in deciding to go to university. About one-fifth of this group gave "to enable me to get a good job" as their main reason for choosing high education. And 37 percent said that a degree was "part of my career plan".

A young person coming from a non-professional household where finances are stretched may find the idea of learning for its own sake to be a luxury. This explains the explosion in vocational courses.

At Portsmouth University, first-year student Kim Burnett, 19, says that she specifically chose her degree in health research management and psychology to get a secure, well-paid job. Harriet Edge, 20, studying medicine at Manchester University, also wanted job security. Her parents lacked college degrees, though the fact that her uncle is a doctor appears to have influenced her choice.

"Medicine is one of those fields where it's pretty likely you'll get a job at the end. That's a big plus, as the debt levels after five years of study are going to be frightening," she says. Many experts believe that this situation affects those with no family tradition of higher education far more keenly. The fact that 26 percent of respondents said that they needed more advice implies that some students may end up feeling that their higher education investment was not worthwhile.

For those with graduate parents, this lack of guidance may, the researchers suggest, be less of a problem. "But, for those without the advantages, lack of access to career guidance before applying for higher education leaves them exposed to making poorer choices," the survey concludes.

26. The main idea of the passage is that _____.

- A. parents' experiences are more important for their children's education
- B. parents' careers are vitally important for their children's degrees

- C. students' approach to higher education correlates with their parents' educational experience
 D. students' career and employment prospects are decided by their parents

 A. is less likely to get financial aid to go to university
 B. is more likely to choose vocational education

 A. They both chose their majors because of their family influence.
 B. They are both the first-year students in university.
 C. Both of their parents lack college degrees.
 D. Both of them chose degrees for job security.
29. It is implied that _____.

Part IV Translation(25 minutes,15 points)

Directions: Translate the following passage into Chinese and put your translation on the ANSWER SHEET.

Too frequently, students seem to take for granted their right, or even their access, to interviews and to jobs needed to begin their careers. Such optimism can no longer be justified. Ten years ago, graduating students were warned that continued employment in one field for one company for one's entire working life was increasingly becoming a thing of the past. Students could expect three or four career shifts. Today, many college or university graduates will never have the chance even to begin careers in their chosen fields. Others may find only part-time or contract work. The last decade has produced enormous changes in the way business and industry operate in North America, and in the ways in which people are employed.

Passage One

The Hope diamond is one of the largest and most famous jewels in the world. For fifty years, it has been in the collection of the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C. To mark its anniversary, the museum is showing the forty-five carat (克拉) blue diamond for the first time without its usual setting. Visitors can now see the Hope diamond in all its natural beauty.

The Hope diamond has a long and rich history. It was formed over a billion years ago far beneath the Earth's surface. The stone was discovered in a mine in India during the 17th century. It was more than one hundred carats in weight. In 1668, the stone was sold to the ruler of France, King Louis the Fourteenth.

A few years later, the king's jeweler re-cut the stone to a weight of about 67 carats. The stone was later lost during the French Revolution. A re-cut version of this blue diamond later reappeared in England.

Different families and jewelry experts have owned the stone over the years. The diamond received its name from one of its 19th century owners, Henry Phillip Hope. A wealthy American woman named Evalyn Walsh McLean bought the Hope diamond in 1911. During her ownership the stone was placed in a setting surrounded by 16 small white diamonds on a long diamond chain.

Last month, the Smithsonian removed the Hope diamond from this setting. Visitors can see the diamond all by itself, in all its sparkling blue glory. In April, the Hope diamond will temporarily be placed in a new necklace before returning to its original setting. Also in April, the Smithsonian will release a new movie about the diamond's history.

The Hope diamond is one of the most visited objects in the museum. Museum organizers say they wanted people to be able to see the famous stone in a new way.

Passage Two

Several fishermen in Maine recently completed a study program at the country's first ever "Cod(金枪鱼) School." It trains fishermen who usually earn a living fishing in the ocean to be fish farmers. The program is aimed at helping commercial fishers to find a new way to carry out their trade.

On a recent morning, a fishing boat left, but the men on the boat were not going fishing, they were going farming. They are going to move the cages and sorting codfish. About one and a half kilometers out to sea, the boat finds eight circular pens. A rubber tube encloses each one. The pens are covered with netting material to keep out seabirds. Inside each of the fifty-meter wide areas are up to fifty thousand cod. Most of these fish will be served on dinner tables around the world.

The program will teach the students how to feed the fish and not to over-feed the fish. It means that they should give them enough feed, and not waste any feed and make it as efficient as possible.

The fish-farmers in training take turns throwing special fish food into the pen. Air bubbles appear as thousands of cod come up to feed. They can be seen from the boat with an underwater camera.

Bill Thompson is one of the Cod School's four students. He says the program has showed him that fish-farming is a wise choice. He said: "Even if the wild stocks came back to their fullest capacity they still wouldn't feed the world. So this is the way of the future. And it's possible for a family to run a business also."

Passage Three

The United Nations declared 2011 to 2012 the Year of the Bat. The campaign was launched as a way to strengthen efforts for protecting the world's only flying mammal. These creatures can be found in many parts of the world. Bats live in cities, deserts, grasslands and forests. There are over 1,200 bat species.

The smallest bat in the world is from Southeast Asia. This kind of bat measures about 30 millimeters in length. The world's largest bat, the Giant Golden-Crowned Flying Fox, has a wingspan of 1.5 meters. Most bats eat insects, but many feed on fruit or nectar from flowers.

Many people think bats are blind, but this is not true. Many species have very good sight. Most bats communicate and find their way by making "echolocation" (回声定位法) noises. They produce high-frequency noises and can estimate the distance of an object by using the sound echoes that bounce back to them. So, while bats may travel in total darkness, they "see" using sound.

Sadly, bats are widely feared and misunderstood. Most bats come out of their shelters only at nightfall. Three bat species feed on blood. Because of these qualities, bats have long been linked in many cultures to death, darkness and blood-drinking.

Yet bats are important for agriculture and our environment. They help pollinate (授粉) plants and spread seeds. They also help control insects. Bats eat huge numbers of insects, including kinds that damage crops.

For example, a brown bat can eat more than 1,000 insects in one hour. One report says bats save American farmers billions of dollars every year by reducing crop damage and limiting the need for chemicals that kill insects.

Over one-fifth of all bat species are under threat. They face disease and the human destruction of their natural environments. In some areas, diseases have killed nearly 100% of bat populations.

 - A. bats are more easily to be killed by diseases

Passage Four

Americans are more socially isolated than they were 20 years ago, separated by work, commuting and the single life, researchers reported.

Nearly a quarter of people surveyed said they had “zero” close friends with whom to discuss personal matters. More than 50 percent named two or fewer close friends, the researchers said.

“This is a big social change, and it indicates something that’s not good for our society,” said Duke University Professor Lynn Smith-Lovin. Smith-Lovin’s group used data from a national survey of 1,500 American adults that has been ongoing since 1972.

She said it indicated people had a surprising drop in the number of close friends since 1985. At that time, Americans most commonly said they had three close friends whom they had known for a long time, saw often, and with whom they shared a number of interests. They were almost as likely to name four or five friends, and the relationships often sprang from their neighborhoods or communities.

Ties to a close network of friends create a social safety net that is good for society. Research has also linked social support and civic participation to a longer life, Smith-Lovin said.

The data also show the social isolation trend mirrors other class divides: Non-whites and people with less education tend to have smaller social networks than white Americans and the highly educated. That means that in daily life, personal emergencies and national disasters such as Hurricane Katrina, those with the fewest resources also have the fewest personal friends to call for advice and assistance.

“It’s one thing to know someone and exchange e-mails with them. It’s another thing to say, ‘Will you give me a ride out of town with all of my possessions and pets? And can I stay with you for a couple or three months?’” Smith-Lovin said.

“Worrying about social isolation is not a matter of remembering a warm past. Real things are strongly connected with that,” added Harvard University Public Policy Professor Robert Putnam. He suggested flexible work schedules would allow Americans to tend both personal and professional lives.

26. One reason for the social isolation of Americans is _____.

- A. frequent relocation
- B. frequent traveling
- C. living alone
- D. working flexible hours

27. The percentage of people with more than two close friends is about _____.

- A. 25%
- B. 50%
- C. 60%

- A. a must for social progress

- B. beneficial for the family
 C. a source of happiness
 D. good for people's health
29. It is implied that _____ tend to live a more socially isolated life.
 A. people in the higher social ladder
 B. people in the lower social ladder

Part II Reading Comprehension(35 minutes, 40 points)

Directions: There are 4 passages in this part. Each passage is followed by 5 questions or unfinished statements. For each of them there are 4 choices marked A, B, C and D. Choose the best one and mark your answer on the ANSWER SHEET with a single bar through the centre of the letter that indicates your choice.

Passage One

Wisdom teeth are normally the last teeth to appear. This usually happens when people are in their late teen years or early twenties—in other words, when they are older and wiser.

Wisdom teeth are chewing teeth, at the back of the mouth. They can grow into place normally and never cause a problem. But often there is not enough room for them in the mouth. They might crowd other teeth. Sometimes they even push sideways through the gums (牙床).

An impacted wisdom tooth is one that fails to completely rise through the gum—the term is erupt. Wisdom teeth that only partially erupt can leave space for bacteria to enter around the tooth. Infection is a risk in these cases.

Wisdom teeth that are not well in place and become impacted are often removed. People should have the placement of their wisdom teeth examined between the ages of sixteen and twenty. X-rays can show wisdom teeth that are below the gums.

The American Dental Association says removal is generally advised when wisdom teeth only partly break through the gums. Removal is also advised if there is a chance that poorly placed wisdom teeth will damage other teeth. And removal is called for in cases where fluid collects around a wisdom tooth that is partly or fully below the gum.

But why do we have wisdom teeth if we often need to get them removed? One theory has to do with our diets. Scientists say the diet of prehistoric humans probably required more chewing teeth. Life was probably a little rougher on the teeth back then, too. So it was good to have extras.

The American Association of Oral and Maxillofacial (上颌面的) Surgeons says young adults are the best candidates for wisdom teeth removal. The group says older patients may be at greater risk for disease in the tissue surrounding the teeth.

After surgery, there can be swelling of the gums and face and some pain. Both can be treated with cold wraps and medication(药物治疗).

A. it may need more time to grow

Passage Two

When you've read the same paragraph 10 times and you still make little of it as you are reading ancient Egyptian, and you're not studying ancient Egyptian, it's time for you to put the books down. Experts say good breaks are a critical part of exam preparation and actually make your brain work better.

Debbie Bruckner, the director of the Student Union Wellness Centre at the University of Calgary, says an overburdened brain stops processing new information. "You've got to put it into your short-term memory and then move it into your long-term memory," she says. To do that, you need to stop cramming new knowledge into your head.

Psychologist Joanne Mills says most people can concentrate for 45 minutes to an hour at a time, but then need 15 minutes to rest. She suggests picking your break activity — taking a walk, listening to music — and setting a timer for 15 minutes. "It's a cue to your mind" she says.

Mills also suggests setting targets and stopping when you've reached them. "Some students will take that break even if they haven't finished what they set out to do and then they don't really relax or enjoy it because their mind is racing with 'I must, I should, I have to.' " If you're in the flow, ride the momentum until you come to a natural break in the material, then set the timer again and walk to the corner store.

Alternating which books you're hitting also helps. Work on English for an hour, then switch to math. It's like exercising multiple muscles at the gym, as different parts of your brain work for different subjects.

Bruckner says that to maintain a healthy mind-body-spirit temperament in the heat of exam season, sit down with your calendar.

"Make a schedule for a month — when your assignments are due, when your final exams are, what the weighting is for each," she says.

16. The author uses "ancient Egyptian" to infer to that the reading is _____.

- A. very interesting
 - B. hard to understand
 - C. very boring
 - D. of different culture
17. According to Debbie Bruckner, to learn new knowledge well _____.
- A. you need to stop learning new information

18. The word “cram” in the second paragraph is closest in meaning to _____.
- A. put something into a container, especially in a hurry
 - B. put many things into a place at one time that makes it completely full
 - C. teach students as much as possible in a short time before the examination
 - D. put too much knowledge into the brain, although there is hardly enough room for it
19. If you haven't finished the target you set, you should _____.
- A. still take the break in every 45 minutes
 - B. wait until you come to a natural break in the material
 - C. set the timer again and walk to the corner store
 - D. stop thinking “I must, I should, I have to”
20. By saying “what the weighting is for each” the author means that you will know _____.
- A. which exam is the most important
 - B. what time each exam is
 - C. how to balance your time
 - D. what is the most important task each time

Passage Three

All friendships require a certain amount of chemistry. But when two people of the opposite sex become friends, sometimes those friendly feelings can start to resemble something more like sexual tension.

Male-female friendships can be an emotional minefield of hidden desires. Does this mean you secretly want to jump into bed with all of your friends? Of course not. But do you ever wonder how many of them might be interested if the opportunity presented itself? Maybe you and your platonic(柏拉图式的) friendship are just a bad breakup and a bottle of wine away from crossing that boundary and hooking up(结合).

So can two people of the opposite sex ever really be “just friends?” The Hollywood answer to this age-old question is a decisive HELL NO. On screen, male-female friendships always turn into something more. Harry and Sally, Chandler and Monica, Jim and Pam ... do

I need to go on? Even the characters in Just Friends wind up becoming much more than the film's definitive title suggests. Cinematic stories dictate that when reasonably attractive men and women befriend one another, they are always on the road to romance, whether they realize it or not.

But how much truth is there to this friendship as foreplay(性爱前奏) theory? Not a whole lot. Real life isn't a romantic comedy. Men and women go to school together, work together and hang out in plenty of platonic settings without falling hopelessly in love with one another.

Last year, a close female friend of mine moved in with a new male roommate. My immediate reaction was, "You two are definitely going to sleep together." It seemed to me that a single man and woman living under the same roof would inevitably end up doing it. Much to my surprise, the roommate romance never happened. Almost one year later, the two of them have never even come close to seeing each other naked. Instead, their way of life has come to resemble a sexless marriage. They cook for each other, argue over domestic chores and insist that they never, ever think about each other "that way."

21. The author believes that two people of the same sex can _____.
 - A. really be just friends
 - B. never be just friends
 - C. have nothing but romance
 - D. work together better than the same sex
22. According to the last sentence of the 2nd paragraph, under the right opportunity, platonic friendship can easily _____.
 - A. cross the ethnic boundary
 - B. turn into bad relationship
 - C. turn into romance
 - D. be broken up
23. In the movie Just Friends, the two leading characters _____.
 - A. are just friends
 - B. have romance
 - C. don't realize their true relationship
 - D. can never be friends again
24. In real life, Hollywood foreplay theory _____.
 - A. has been proved true
 - B. has been practiced a lot
 - C. doesn't work
 - D. is abandoned by people
25. In the last paragraph, the man and the woman _____.

- A. never become close friends
- B. end up sleeping together
- C. end up with a sexless marriage
- D. never have romance

Passage Four

It is the world's fourth-most-important food crop, after maize, wheat and rice. It provides more calories, more quickly, using less land and in a wider range of climates than any other plant. It is, of course, the potato.

The United Nations has hoped that greater awareness of the merits of potatoes will contribute to the achievement of its Millennium Development Goals, by helping to reduce poverty and promote economic development.

The potato promoted economic development by supporting the Industrial Revolution in England in the 19th century. It provided a cheap source of calories and was easy to cultivate, so it liberated workers from the land. Potatoes became popular in the north of England, as people there specialized in livestock farming and domestic industry, while farmers in the south concentrated on wheat production. By a happy accident, the concentrated industrial activity in the regions where coal was readily available, and a potato-driven population boom provided ample workers for the new factories. Friedrich Engels even declared that the potato was the equal of iron for its "historically revolutionary role".

In the form of French fries, served alongside burgers and Coca-Cola, potatoes are now a symbol of globalization. This is quite a change given the skepticism which first greeted them on their arrival in the Old World in the 16th century. They were variously thought to be fit only for animals, to be associated with the devil or to be poisonous. They took hold in 18th-century Europe only when war and famine meant there was nothing else to eat; people then realized just how useful and reliable they were. As Adam Smith, one of the potato's many admirers, observed at the time, "The very general use which is made of potatoes in these kingdoms as food for man is a convincing proof that the prejudices of a nation, with regard to diet, however deeply rooted, are by no means unconquerable." Mashed, fried, boiled and roast, a humble potato changed the world, and people everywhere should celebrate it.

26. Paragraph 3 mainly describes _____.

Part IV Translation (25 minutes, 15 points)

Directions: Translate the following passage into Chinese and put your translation on the ANSWER SHEET.

In many Western countries, a considerable number of parents have removed their children from school and are teaching them at home. Such children do all their normal lessons at home, often under the guidance of a parent. The first thing to consider is whether this is legal or not. In most countries it is, so long as parents can prove that their children are receiving an adequate education, equal to that provided by their state educational system. The next consideration is whether the parents have the time, self-discipline, intelligence and patience to teach their own child week after week, day in and day out, for hours on end. Then there is the problem of what will be taught, and how.

Passage One

Justin was always prepared. His motto was “Never throw anything out, you never know when it might come in handy.” His bedroom was so full of flat bicycle tires, bent tennis rackets, deflated basketballs, and games with missing pieces that you could barely get in the door. His parents asked him to clean out his room.

“What use is a fish tank with a hole in the bottom?” his father asked. But Justin simply smiled and repeated his motto, “Never throw anything out, you never know when it might come in handy.”

When Justin was away from home, he always carried his blue backpack. He liked to think of it as a smaller version of his bedroom—a place to store the many objects that he collected. It was so worn and stretched that it hardly resembled a backpack anymore. It was full of the kind of things that seemed unimportant, but when used with a little imagination, might come in handy.

Justin had earned a reputation for figuring things out and getting people out of otherwise hopeless situations. Many of his classmates and neighbors sought him out when they needed help with a problem. On the first day of school, his friend Kenny, came looking for Justin.

“Do you think you have something in your bag that could help me remember my locker code?” he asked. “I lost the paper it was written on. I have science class in two minutes and if I’m late on the first day it’ll make me look bad for the rest of the year.” Kenny looked genuinely worried.

“Relax,” Justin said, taking his backpack off and opened it. “Remember how you borrowed my notebook in homeroom to write the code down? Well, I know how we can recover what you wrote.”

He took the notebook and a soft lead pencil out of his bag. The page that Kenny had written on had left faint indentations(印凹痕) on another page in the notebook. Justin held the pencil on its side and rubbed it lightly over the indentations. Slowly but surely the numbers of the locker code appeared in white, set off by the gray pencil rubbings.

“That’s amazing!” Kenny said. “I owe you one.” And he dashed off to open his locker.

Passage Two

Only moments after announcing a policy of zero tolerance on cellphone(手机) use in the classroom, Ali Nazemi heard a ring. Nazemi, a business professor at Roanoke College in Virginia, took out a hammer and walked towards a young man. He smashed the offending device. Students' faces turned white all over the classroom.

This episode reflects a growing challenge for American college teachers in, as the New York Times puts it, a "New Class (room) War: Teacher vs. Technology". Fortunately, the smashed-phone incident had been planned ahead of time to demonstrate teachers' anger at inattentive students distracted by high-tech devices.

At age 55, Nazemi stands on the far shore of a new sort of generational divide between teacher and student. The divide separates those who want to use technology to grow smarter from those who want to use it to get dumber. Perhaps there's a nicer way to put it. "The baby boomers seem to see technology as information and communication," said Michael Bugeja, the author of Interpersonal Divide: the Search for Community in a Technological Age. "Their children seem to see the same devices as entertainment and socializing."

Bugeja's online survey of several hundred students found that a majority had used their cell phones, sent or read e-mail, and logged onto social-network sites during class time. A quarter of the respondents admitted they were taking the survey while sitting in a different class.

The Canadian company Smart Technologies makes and sells a program called

SynchronEyes. It allows a classroom teacher to monitor every student's computer activity and to freeze it at a click. Last year, the company sold more than 10,000 licenses. The biggest problem, said Nancy Knowlton, the company's chief executive officer, is staying ahead of students trying to crack the program's code. "There's an active discussion on the Web, and we're monitoring it," Knowlton said. "They keep us on our toes."

16. Prof. Nazemi smashed the student's cellphone with a hammer because _____.
A. students in his class didn't listen to his announcement
B. he hated new gadgets such as cellphones
C. he no longer tolerated cellphone use in the classroom
D. he wanted to show how distractive the cellphone was

A. students may soon decode their program SynchronEyes
B. whether they have the right to allow teachers to monitor students
C. they must sell the program without the students' knowing of it
D. they have to discuss whether the SynchronEyes is useful on the Web
20. The best title of this passage is probably _____.
A. Different Opinions Between Teachers and Students
B. Classroom Chaos over Gadget Use
C. The Development of Classroom Wars
D. Keep Us on Our Toes

Passage Three

Headphones used with MP3 digital music players like the iPod may interfere with heart pacemakers(起搏器) and implantable defibrillators(除颤器), U.S. researchers said.

The MP3 players themselves posed no threat to pacemakers and defibrillators, used to normalize heart rhythm. But strong little magnets inside the headphones can confuse the devices if placed within 1.2 inches of them, the researchers told an American Heart Association meeting in New Orleans.

Dr. William Maisel of the Medical Device Safety Institute in Boston led a team that tested eight models of MP3 player headphones in 60 defibrillator and pacemaker patients.

They placed the headphones on the patients' chests, directly over the devices. The headphones interfered with the heart devices in about a quarter of the patients—14 of the 60—and interference was twice as likely in those with a defibrillator than with a pacemaker.

Another study presented at the meeting showed that cell phones equipped with wireless technology are unlikely to interfere with pacemakers.

A pacemaker sends electrical impulses to the heart to speed up or slow heart rhythm. The magnet, however, could make it deliver a signal no matter what the heart rate is, the researchers said.

An implantable defibrillator signals the heart to normalize its rhythm if it gets too fast or slow. A magnet could de-activate it, making it ignore an abnormal heart rhythm instead of delivering an electrical shock to normalize it.

The devices usually go back to working the right way after the headphones are removed, the researchers said.

“The main message here is; it's fine for patients to use their headphones normally, meaning they can listen to music and keep the headphones in their ears. But what they should not do is put the headphones near their device,” Maisel said in a telephone interview.

So that means people with pacemakers or defibrillators should not place the headphones in a shirt pocket or coat pocket near the chest when they are not being used, and should not place them over their chest or have others who are wearing headphones rest their head on the patient's chest, Maisel said.

21. How can MP3 digital music players hinder pacemakers and defibrillators?

- A. MP3 players can interfere with heart pacemakers and defibrillators.
- B. The magnets inside the headphones can interfere with pacemakers and defibrillators.
- C. The loud music beats pose a threat to pacemakers and defibrillators.
- D. MP3 players are placed too close to pacemakers and defibrillators.

- A. headphones had interference with the heart devices in every patient
- B. half of the models of MP3 player headphones had interference with heart devices
- C. headphones had much stronger interference with a defibrillator than with a pacemaker
- D. headphones had much stronger interference with a pacemaker than with a defibrillator

23. The magnets inside the headphones can cause problems by _____.

- A. sending out electrical shock to damage hearts
- B. sending out signals to make hearts beat too slow
- C. sending out signals to make hearts beat too fast

- D. making the heart devices malfunction
24. People with pacemakers or defibrillators should _____.
 A. never use MP3 digital music players
 B. not use MP3 headphones
 C. not use the headphones near their hearts
 D. put the headphones in a pocket when they are not being used
25. The writer's purpose in writing this article is to _____.
 A. report a scientific research
 B. warn people not to use modern gadgets
 C. compare different headphone products
 D. inform people of the safe use of MP3 players

Passage Four

From the goose that laid the golden egg to the race between the tortoise and the hare, Aesop's fables are known for teaching moral lessons rather than literally being true. But a new study says at least one such tale might really have happened.

It's the fable about a thirsty crow (乌鸦). The bird comes across a jar with the water level too low for him to reach. The crow raises the water level by dropping stones into the jar. The moral tells: Little by little does the trick, or in other retellings, necessity is the mother of invention.

Now, scientists report that some relatives of crows called rooks used the same stone-dropping strategy to get at a floating worm. Results of experiments with three birds were published online by the journal Current Biology.

Rooks, like crows, had already been shown to use tools in previous experiments. Christopher Bird of Cambridge University and a colleague exposed the rooks to a 6-inch-tall clear plastic tube containing water, with a worm on its surface. The birds used the stone-dropping trick naturally and appeared to estimate how many stones they would need. They learned quickly that larger stones work better.

In an accompanying commentary, Alex Taylor and Russell Gray of the University of Auckland in New Zealand noted that in an earlier experiment, the same birds had dropped a single stone into a tube to get food released at the bottom. So maybe they were just following that strategy again when they saw the tube in the new experiment, the scientists suggested. But Bird's paper argued there's more to it: The rooks dropped multiple stones rather than just one before reaching for the worm, and they reached for it at the top of the tube rather than trying to reach the food at the bottom.

The researchers also said Aesop's crow might have actually been a rook, since both kinds of birds were called crows in the past.

Paper Two

(55 minutes)

Part IV Translation (25 minutes, 15 points)

Directions: Translate the following passage into Chinese and put your translation on the ANSWER SHEET.

When you speak and write, no law says you have to use big words. Short words are as good as long ones, and short, old words like sun and grass and home are best of all. A lot of small words can meet your needs with a strength, grace and charm that large words lack.

Big words can make the way dark for those who hear what you say and read what you write, while short words are bright, like sparks that glow in the night.

If a long word says just what you want, do not fear to use it. But know that our language is rich in short words. Make them the spine and the heart of what you speak and write. Like loyal friends, they will not let you down.

Part V Writing (30 minutes, 15 points)

第二部分 阅读理解

第一篇

【参考译文】

人们没有不喜欢樱桃的。这种小小的红色季节性水果全世界的人都会喜欢。据说樱桃原产于西亚。它与玫瑰是同一科的植物。李子是它的近亲。和樱桃一样,李子也在早春开花。

全世界的樱桃有两种:甜的和酸的。酸樱桃因为含糖量太少,不能直接吃。只能把它们腌制后,用来做果冻、果酱馅饼和果酒。美国是主要的酸樱桃生产国。各州中密歇根州产量最高。其他的樱桃生产国还有俄罗斯、波兰和土耳其。甜樱桃比酸樱桃的含糖量要高出很多,因此可以直接吃新鲜的。华盛顿州是美国最大的甜樱桃生产州,其次是加州和俄勒冈州。美国、伊朗和土耳其是主要的甜樱桃生产国。新鲜樱桃不容易储存。它们必须尽快上市,因此价格要比其他新鲜水果要贵一些。

农民通过嫁接的方式栽种出不同品种的樱桃。他们从现有的樱桃树上取下枝丫,把它们嫁接到相关的树上,作为芽根。新芽在芽根里生长,这样两种树就会合二为一。

樱桃树春天开花也很好看。樱花在亚洲和欧洲的许多地方,特别是在日本,很受大家的欢迎。但是华盛顿特区种有一些全世界最有名的樱桃树。1912年日本送给美国3500株樱桃树作为友好的礼物。几年后,日本又送了3800株。20世纪80年代初,美国又送还给日本一些小树苗,以弥补日本的樱桃树在一次洪灾中的损失。

【参考译文】

美国的公立大学和私立大学有什么区别?最大的区别是钱。公立学院与大学和私立学校一样都要收费。但是州立学校收费少一些,因为他们可以得到州里的资助,州里建立这些学校就是要为本州的居民提供教育。因此对外州和外国学生收费要比本州学生高,至少第一一年要贵一些。

人口最多的州是加利福尼亚,差不多有四千万人。它的两年制大专、四年制学院和大学的数

量在全世界名列前茅。但是今天我们想以加州北边西岸较小的俄勒冈州为例。

位于欧基尼的俄勒冈大学是俄勒冈大学系统中的一个校区。今年本州的本科生学费是6 000美元。住宿要另外交8 000美元。非本州的学生住宿费是一样的,但是学杂费要20 000美元。

我们再来比较一下俄勒冈州私立大学的费用。

俄勒冈大学有20 000名学生,而波特兰的刘易斯和克拉克学院只有4 000名学生。住宿费用比州立大学要高一些,每个月要多800美元。但是最大的区别是学费。刘易斯和克拉克学院公布的学费差不多是34 000美元。

然而刘易斯和克拉克学院是美国为数不多的能为外国学生提供资助的学校之一。它每年向20位其他国家的学生提供奖学金。据说去年奖学金平均为19 000美元。这样,对于外国学生来说刘易斯和克拉克学院的学费就会比俄勒冈大学低一些。

当然学费的高低本身不能代表学校的质量和教育的价值。

【参考译文】

十月份是美国家庭暴力警示月。它是为了向公众提醒对这个影响到上百万人的社会问题的关注。

五年前,美国公布了一项关于家庭暴力问题的调查结果。结果发现全世界有二亿七千五百万儿童目睹家庭暴力。这些孩子们代表了一个不为社会所知的受害者群体。官员们说他们是被遗忘的家庭暴力受害者。

研究表明这些孩子更容易出现学习上的、感情方面的和吸毒等问题。许多目睹了家庭暴力的孩子长大后自己不是成为家庭暴力的施暴者就是成了受害者。这就是联合国儿童基金会把家庭暴力称为“当代对人权最重要的挑战之一”的原因。

上周美国国会举行听证会向这些政策制定者们宣传了这一问题。

家庭暴力的定义是:任何旨在获得针对他人的强权或控制力的行为。它包括语言上的、感情上的、身体上的和性的虐待。

美国国家司法局和疾病控制中心说,每四个美国妇女就有一个在其人生中遭受过家庭暴力。

每年有一百五十万妇女受到身体上的伤害或被强奸。在美国,每天就有三位妇女因家庭暴力死在家里。

实际上问题远比数字显示的严重得多。许多受到家庭暴力的人从不报案。通常受害者认为他们之所以受害自己也有责任。同时他们也有强烈的耻辱感,觉得不光彩。

男人更是如此,他们受到家庭暴力更不愿意报案。研究表明在美国每 13 个男人中就有一个是家庭暴力的受害者。

家庭暴力警示月就是要把这个问题公之于众,让更多的人参与进来以找到解决问题的办法。有关官员说了解家庭暴力实际上有助于挽救生命,结束家庭暴力的恶性循环。

【参考译文】

本月早些时候,佛罗里达州立大学的凯文·比沃研究员报告说:他和他的同事找到了和学术成就有关的遗传标记。他们的报告发表在《发展心理学》杂志上,他们的研究称,科学家们发现带有特定形式的三种基因的年轻人比拥有其他基因的人更有可能读完高中,然后上大学。新发现的这三种基因是调节大脑活动的,在其他研究中还表明它们和学习动机、注意力长短以及智力发展水平有关。

确实近年来越来越多的科学家开展了与学习能力有关的特定基因的研究。例如,伦敦国王学院的一个研究小组发表了一些有关数学能力与 DNA 中不同变量的关系的文章。根据该小组 2010 年的一项研究,孩子如果带有研究人员认定的 10 种或更多的危险基因的话,那么就有双倍的可能学不好数学。在另一项实验中,科学家们报告带有另外两种与大脑发展有关的基因的人学习比较难学的语言,如汉语,就会容易一些。

但是,科学家们早就警告过我们,不要把人类复杂的活动归咎于几个基因的作用——其实学习是我们人类最复杂的活动之一。这些学者们也意识到了这一点。伦敦国王学院的一个研究小组的负责人索菲亚·道澈提写道:数学能力的强弱受到许多形式的基因的影响,这些基因在整个能力系统中起到很小的作用。此外,即便是在基因领域环境因素,也有很大的作用:索菲亚·道澈提的研究发现带有危险基因的孩子如果是生长在混乱的家庭环境里,并经常受到父母的指责和惩罚就特别容易学不好数学。更普遍的研究表明遗传因素在教育成功中起到大约 50% 的

作用。

第四部分 英译汉

【参考译文】

当然我们有些事要依靠别人,这不仅是合理的,而且是必需的。孩子必须依靠父母,弱者必须依靠强者,病人必须依靠健康人。从某种意义上说,我们每个人,即使是最独立的,自力更生的人也需要相互依靠。无论如何,在文明社会中,任何人都不可能生产出他所需要的一切东西。没有人能生产出他所需要的全部食物和衣物,他只能生产一两种东西,其他的东西都需要从别人处交换或购买,其他人也是一样。因此,在社会中,每个人都依赖别人的服务,而他自己也为满足别人所需作出贡献。

【解析】

这是一段 120 词的段落,不难理解,共 7 句话,要求 25 分钟完成翻译,共计 15 分。这段短文的特点是句子都不长,结构也不复杂。

在这段翻译中要注意的是:

1. 对词汇特别是一些词组的理解要准确。如:a certain amount of:有些;in a sense:从某种意义上说;At any rate :无论如何;by exchange or purchase from others:从别人处交换或购买;contributes to the needs of others:为满足别人所需作出贡献。

2. 对句子结构的理解要准确,特别是要看清句子之间的关系。如:the sick on the well:这里是省略句,原句应该是 the sick must depend on the well。又如:who are doing the same thing:其他人也是一样。

第五部分 短文写作

【解析】

这是一篇提纲作文。文体为比较性论说文。要求考生说出业余爱好对人们有哪些好处或坏处。提纲作文是一种控制性作文。考生写作时要紧扣标题,不能脱离提纲规定的内容。因时间有限,字数有限,考生最好选择业余爱好对人们有什么好处或有什么坏处一点来谈,不要既谈好处又谈坏处。这样面面俱到,反而讲不清楚。

另外,一定要举例说明。其实举例说明比从理论上谈更容易写,说服力更强。

提纲作文一定要囊括所给提纲中包含的全部内容,但也不要拘泥于提纲,更不能逐字翻译提纲,要自己发挥。

【高分作文】

The Advantages or Disadvantages of Having Hobbies

Most people have hobbies, and I think this is very good, because hobbies can bring them many advantages.

First of all, a hobby can make boredom a thing of the past, because the hobby can fill their empty hours with interesting and constructive activities. For example, I like gardening. Whenever I feel bored, I would go to my balcony to take care of the plants and enjoy the beautiful flowers. Then I would feel relaxed.

A hobby can also add to the sense of self-esteem. Because knowing oneself is an expert at something can increase one's confidence.

Thirdly, a hobby can bring one in contact with new and interesting people. Other people who share the same hobby are an excellent source of friendship. For example, people who like singing have organized some singing organizations, and many of them have become close friends.

Hobbies can often bring a lot of advantages to the people who invest time and energy in them. So I think we all should have hobbies.

【参考译文】

美国许多老年人在养老院或类似的养老中心度过余生。这些地方为他们服务,帮他们做些他们自己不能做的事情。然而大部分人说他们还是愿意住在自己的家里。现在有一些非营利组织可以帮他们做到这些。

91岁的菲利普·史密斯和他的夫人就住在华盛顿州西雅图的一所老房子里。他就想这样下去。他总是说:“就我来说,我不愿意离开这个地方。和许多人住在一起我受不了。如果非让我这么做,我宁愿去死。”

史密斯先生说现在他和他的夫人住在一栋两层的楼房里,还能很好地照顾自己。但是他们知道很快他们就会需要别人帮助他们做一些简单的家务事。比如更换楼梯顶上的灯泡等。过去美国老年人可以让孩子或邻居家的孩子帮忙换灯泡。但是现在他们那儿的年轻人都长大了,搬到别处去了。史密斯夫妇有三个孩子,但是他们都住在别的州。所以他们正考虑加入“虚拟村”。这是当地的一个志愿者组织,为老年人提供帮助。他们可以帮助老年人做很多事情,如提供接送服务,为他们修葺房屋和帮助他们遛狗等。

虚拟村这种想法是10年前在马萨诸塞州波士顿兴起的。结果它在全国发展成了一个非官方的网络。现在已达150个。

现在美国孩子在学校里还学习书写吗?有人认为,在现在这个键盘时代,上书写课是不是过时了?

我们向田纳西纳什维尔万德比特大学的史蒂夫·格拉汉姆教授提出了这个问题。他告诉我们在过去的15年里,他一直听人们说书写要退出历史舞台。他说,如果我们今年公布的一项调查结果是准确的话,美国90%的一年级至三年级的老师都一直在教书写。

这90%的老师还说,学校要求他们教书写。但是研究没有回答他们教得如何。格拉汉姆教

授说:“今年的一项研究表明 3/4 的老师说他们不准备再教书写了。”

“我们来看看他们是怎样教书写的。有的老师一天只教 10~15 分钟,而有的老师一天要教 60~70 分钟——这对书写来说真是要命的了。”

很多成年人还记得他们是怎么学书写的——一遍又一遍地抄写字母。现在大家认为练习的时间短一些为好。有的专家认为书写教学不能只是书写本身的教学。而是应该用书写来表达思想,毕竟,表达思想才是我们写东西的目的。

要想写好手写体关乎两种技能:一是可读性。也就是说写出来的东西要让别人认得。二是流畅性(不假思索书写)。专家说流畅性要不断练习,不断提高,直到高中。

但不是每个人都能掌握这些技能。老师们报告说通常有 1/4 的孩子书写很差。有些人认为有了计算机和语音识别系统书写就不再重要了。

但是史蒂夫·格拉汉姆教授说:“在小学阶段,特别是小学头几年中,文字处理系统是很少用到的。甚至高中老师也发现不到 50% 的作业需要通过或借助文字处理系统来完成。实际上我们增加了记笔记和课堂测验,而学校里这些作业的大部分都是需要手工书写来完成的。”

美国监狱里的一些囚犯可以进行艺术创作。监狱艺术作品在华盛顿特区艺术画廊里出售。所得收入由作者和首都非营利组织监狱基金会分成。监狱基金会支持监狱中的艺术创作,并设立项目帮助人们远离犯罪。

有些囚犯创作的画作充满了大自然的美丽景象。这能帮助他们回忆起外面的世界。丹尼斯·索宾在监狱里服刑 12 年。在狱中他创立了基金会。他说:“艺术对囚犯来说是一种治疗和改造的好办法。而且,监狱艺术通常充满了感情。”

丹尼斯现在拥有一间名为“水门”的画廊,里面出售监狱艺术品。他说:“这些艺术品很敏感,你可以从中看到人们的思想。”

布莱恩·格里德斯最近才出狱。在八年的服刑期间,他创作了大量艺术作品。有些作品已在华盛顿的“罪与罚”博物馆里展出。他用铅笔作画。在监狱里,颜料和油刷是不允许使用的。因为这些可以被用来做人体艺术。他告诉我们他是用什么来画他夫人的画像的。

他说:“我用自己的头发做成刷子。我剪下很多头发,用线把它们编起来绑在铅笔上。然后用速溶咖啡做成颜料。你可以把咖啡和水按不同的浓度调在一起,产生深浅不同的颜色,当水彩用。”

格里德斯先生还用彩色粉笔创作了一幅自画像。他说:“这幅自画像的人形是碎片化的,寓意着我的人生完全破碎了,也寓意着我将获得新生”。

第四篇

【参考译文】

你父母是否上过大学?或是高中毕业就直接就业?根据英国一项关于人生未来之路的研究,父母的教育背景和现在学生们选择专业、选择毕业后做什么工作有着重要的关系。

这项研究是由英国高等教育就业服务机构进行的。他们计划从2006年起用六年的时间跟踪调查大学生及他们的就业情况。

他们第一年的调查结果来自于13万申请上大学的学生。他们发现那些父母完成大学学业的学生(也就是第二代申请上大学的学生)和父母没有完成大学学业的学生(也就是第一代申请上大学的学生)选择高等教育的方式不同。

第一代申请上大学的学生更可能说他们决定上大学最主要的目的是为了工作和就业。在父母没上过大学的学生中,有1/5选择接受高等教育的理由是确保自己有个好工作。他们其中有37%的人说学位是“我职业计划的一部分”。

一个出身非专业人士家庭、家里经济拮据的年轻人可能会觉得为个人的兴趣去上大学是一种奢侈。这就是选择职业教育的人那么多的原因。

朴次茅斯大学十九岁的一年级学生吉姆·伯纳特说她特意选择了卫生研究管理和心理学是为了能有一份稳定的、收入较高的工作。曼彻斯特大学医学专业20岁的学生哈利雅特·艾知也说她是为了有个稳定的工作。虽然当医生的叔叔可能对她有些影响,但她父母却没有念过大学。

她说:“学医最终找到工作的可能性较大。这可是个大大的加分,因为五年下来贷款额非常惊人。”许多专家认为这些情况更会影响到那些家长没有受到过高等教育的学生。26%的受访者回答他们需要更多的建议,暗示了有些学生可能最终认为他们在高等教育方面的投入可能不值。

研究表明对于父母大学毕业的学生来说缺少就业指导还不是个问题。但是对于那些没有这

方面优势的学生,由于在报考大学时得不到就业指导,他们的选择就会差一些。

第四部分 英译汉

【参考译文】

通常学生想当然地认为他们有权接受(甚至是有机会)面试、有权就业来开始他们的职业生涯。他们认为这些都是理所当然的。这种乐观的想法已经过时了。10年前,就有人警告大学毕业生要想终身在一家公司从事同一领域的工作已经越来越不可能了。一个学生一生可能会换三至四次工作。而今许多大专院校毕业生将不会从事他们本专业的工作。有些人可能只能找到非全日工作或合同制工作。在过去的10年中,北美工商企业的运营发生了巨大的变化,包括用人方式。

【解析】

这是一段121词的段落,不太难理解,共7句话。要求25分钟完成翻译,共计15分。这段短文的特点是除第三句比较长外其他句子都不长,结构也不太复杂。

1. 对词汇特别是一些词组的理解要准确。如:Too frequently:很常见,通常;take for granted:认为……是理所当然;no longer:不再;be justified:……被证明是正当的;a thing of the past:过去的事;part-time or contract work:非全日工作或合同制工作;enormous changes:极大的变化。

2. 对句子结构的理解要准确,特别是要看清比较复杂的结构之间的关系。如:第三句主句是graduating students were warned,而that引导的宾语从句的主语较长:continued employment in one field for one company for one's entire working life; was increasingly becoming a thing of the past是系表结构作表语。

【高分作文】

The Most Important Quality for a Person to Be Successful in the World Today

I think the most important quality for a person to be successful in the world today is being tolerant. Here I do not define success economically. I define success socially. To succeed in the future, we will need to be tolerant of different background, opinions, and lifestyles.

Our modern society has become increasingly open. People from different cities, provinces or even different countries come to work in one workplace. So we must learn to live and work with these people and to be tolerant of the cultures, beliefs and lifestyles which are different from ours if we want to live and work with them peacefully.

In the present world, many a war was waged just because of different opinions or beliefs. We should not do things like that. We should not stop speaking to people or start a quarrel just because we have different opinions and beliefs. We must learn to be tolerant of one another and respect different opinions. We should find a common ground — an idea we can both agree on. Once we have agreed on one subject, it will be easier for us to settle differences in other subjects.

Learning to be tolerant is very important for everyone if he or she wants to be successful socially in our modern world.

【参考译文】

几位缅因州渔民最近完成了国家第一所金枪鱼学校的一门课程。这门课是向原来出海捕鱼的渔民传授如何养鱼的技能。该课程的目的是帮助这些商业捕鱼者找到一条能继续渔业的途径。

最近的一天早晨,一条渔船出发了,他们不是去捕鱼,而是去养鱼。他们去搬动鱼笼,给金枪鱼分类。船开出 1.5 公里后,船上的人看到 8 个圆笼,每个用橡皮圈圈起来。圆圈上面盖着网,

不让海鸟吃到鱼。在每个这样直径 50 米的圆圈中有多达五万条金枪鱼。这些鱼大多数将成为世界各地的盘中餐。

这门课程将教授学生如何喂养海鱼。不能喂食过多。也就是说食物要给足,但又不能浪费,要使食物达到最有效的利用。

参加培训的渔民轮流向圆盘中投放特制的鱼食。几千条金枪鱼游上来吃食就会产生气泡。他们可以通过安装在船底的照相机看到鱼。

比尔·汤姆森是金枪鱼学校四位学员之一。他说该项目向他展示了养鱼是聪明的选择。他说:“即使野生鱼群达到原来最多的数量,也不能满足全世界对鱼类的需求,所以捕鱼的未来只有养殖,而且,这样也可以让他们的家庭继续以渔业为生。

联合国宣布 2011 年至 2012 年为世界蝙蝠年。发起这一活动是为了进一步努力保护这种世界上唯一的会飞的哺乳动物。世界上许多地方都有蝙蝠。它们生活在城市、沙漠和森林里。有 1 200 多种。

世界上最小的蝙蝠生活在东南亚。这种蝙蝠体长只有 30 毫米。世界上最大的蝙蝠是巨型金冠飞狐,它双翼展开有 1.5 米长。大部分蝙蝠吃昆虫,但也有许多吃水果和花蜜。

许多人认为蝙蝠没有视力,这不是事实。许多种蝙蝠视力非常好。大部分蝙蝠是靠回声定位法相互交流和认路的。它们能够发出一种高频的声音并利用返回来的回声来测定物体离它们的距离。所以它们可以在完全黑暗的环境中飞行,能够通过回声来判断物体的位置。

遗憾的是,大部分人都害怕并误解蝙蝠。大部分蝙蝠都是晚间才出来。而且还有三种蝙蝠以血为食。正因如此,许多文化中都把蝙蝠和死亡、黑暗和嗜血联系在一起。

然而,蝙蝠对农业和环境非常重要。它们可以帮助植物授粉,传播种子。它们还能帮助控制害虫。因为蝙蝠吃大量的昆虫,包括危害农作物的害虫。

例如,一种棕色蝙蝠一小时就能吃掉一千多只昆虫。一份报告说蝙蝠每年可以减少农作物的损失和杀虫剂的使用,为美国农民节省十几亿美元。

现在有超过 1/5 的蝙蝠的生存受到了威胁。它们面临疾病和人类对自然环境的破坏。有些地方疾病造成了几乎 100% 的蝙蝠死亡。

第四篇

【参考译文】

研究者报告称:与20年前相比,美国人生活越来越封闭,原因就是工作紧张、上下班路途奔波和单身生活。

研究者称:近1/4的被调查者说没有能够讨论私人生活的密友。50%多一点的人说有两个或更少能够倾谈的对象。

杜克大学的林·史密斯拉文教授说:“这是一种很大的社会变化,它对我们的社会没有什么好处。”林·史密斯拉文研究小组所使用的数据是来自1972年以来国家对1500个美国成年人调查的结果。

她说这表明自1985年以来人们好友的数量在惊人地减少。1985年时大部分美国人都会说他们有三个好友,他们相处时间很长,经常见面,并且他们和好友有很多共同的爱好。他们可能会说出四到五位朋友的名字,这些朋友通常来自他们的邻里或社区。

史密斯拉文教授说,建立亲密的交友圈会形成一种社会安全网,对社会有益。研究还表明社会支持和参与社会活动会延长人的寿命。

数据也显示了生活封闭反映出了阶层的分化:非白人和受教育少的人比白人和受教育多的人社交圈子要小。这就意味着,如果生活中一个人出现了紧急情况或是遇到像卡特琳娜飓风那样的自然灾害,那些社会底层的人就没有多少朋友可以求助或帮他们出主意。

史密斯拉文教授说:“你认识一个人可以和他进行网络通信是一回事,而你可以求助一位朋友说‘你能不能开车来我们这个城市,把我和我的随身物品还有我的宠物接到你们家住两三个月’是另一回事。”

哈佛大学公共政策教授罗伯特的·普特南也说:“对生活封闭表示担忧并不只是怀念过去的美好时光,有许多实际问题与之相关。”他建议采用灵活的工作时间以使美国人能够兼顾个人生活和事业。

每个人既有长处也有弱点。作为一个优秀的管理者要重视发挥每一位员工的优势,并且将那些长处结合起来,使之起到互补作用。

既然没有一个人能拥有成功运作一个公司所具备的全部技能,我们就需要塑造一个能将这些技能利用起来的团队。这绝非一件小事。

你必须从了解员工做起。只有你了解了他们,才知道怎么能调动他们的积极性,什么会挫伤他们的积极性。你会了解他们在某些条件下是如何与某些人交往的。你要关心他们的工作方式,以及他们是如何开展工作的。也只有获取了这方面的信息,你才有可能做到人尽其才,并将他们的聪明才智结合在一起最大限度地发挥团队的整体优势。

【高分作文】

Finding a Job in a Big City or a Small Town?

I think college graduates should not just concern themselves with getting a job with a big company in a big city. They can also establish themselves in small towns or in underdeveloped places.

The unemployment rate of Chinese college graduates has soared in recent years, which can partly be attributed to their unrealistic expectations. Many want a job with a famous company but turn a cold shoulder to jobs in rural areas or small towns, thinking working there is a waste of their talent.

Is it true that a person cannot achieve much unless working in a big city or big company?

The story of my friend Xiao Wu gives that question a negative answer.

Xiao Wu was a former investment manager with a well-known company and had a PhD in finance. He resigned from his post and took over his mother's pig farm in his hometown.

He has made a fortune through his flourishing pig farm business. He had the courage to abandon his established career because he saw the potential in rural areas brought about by new policies in recent years to accelerate the development of agriculture and the rural economy, and to increase the income of farmers.

His success is a result of his down-to-earth manner and his boldness.

Indeed, big companies and big cities can provide fresh graduates with a better chance for promotion and a wider field of vision. But college graduates can also learn some practical skills if they begin their career in grassroots companies or institutions.

Successful people are those who are courageous enough to break down outdated ideology. People can make their careers in the countryside as well as in big cities.

第一篇

【参考译文】

智齿通常是最后长出来的牙齿。通常人们在十八九岁或二十一二岁才长智齿,也就是说人

们这时候已经长大了,聪明了。

智齿是长在嘴里面的臼齿。它可以正常生长而不会发生问题。但是通常智齿长出来的时候嘴里已经没有它的位置了。它们会挤其他的牙齿。有时会从牙床的侧面长出来。被压住的隐智齿就是没有从牙床长出来的智齿。长出来的过程叫做冒出。如果智齿只冒出来一部分,细菌就很容易进入牙齿中,很容易感染。

如果智齿长得地方不对,或完全没有长出来,通常就需要拔掉。人们应该在 16~20 岁之间检查一下智齿的位置是否合适。通过 X 光可以看到牙床下的智齿。

美国牙科协会说通常智齿从牙床中冒出来一部分时就应建议拔掉。如果智齿威胁到其他牙齿也应建议拔掉。如果智齿冒出来一部分或完全冒不出来就会造成周围水肿,也应拔掉。

我们的智齿通常要被拔掉,那为什么人类还要长智齿呢?一种理论说这是因为现代人的饮食发生了变化。科学家说史前人类可能需要更多的臼齿。当时人类生活要艰苦得多,需要更多的臼齿。

美国口腔和颌面外科学会说,20 岁左右的成年人最需要拔掉智齿。他们说年纪再大些就容易引起牙周组织的疾病。

拔掉智齿后,牙床和面部可能会肿起来,并且很疼。这时可以用冷敷和药物治疗。

第二篇

【参考译文】

当你在读一个段落,读了 10 遍时,还像是在读古埃及文一样,不明白的话,其实你不是在读古埃及文,而是你应该休息了。专家说,你在复习准备考试的时候,学习一段时间,然后休息一段时间是非常重要的,这样能使你的大脑更好地工作。卡尔加里大学学生会健康中心主任戴比·布鲁克纳说,大脑过度疲劳会停止接受新的信息。她说:“你得先把信息放到短时记忆中,然后再放到长期记忆中去。”为了做到这一点,你不可以把新的知识硬塞到脑袋里。

心理学家琼尼·米尔说,大部分人一小时能一次集中注意力达 45 分钟,然后需要休息 15 分钟。她建议要进行定时 15 分钟的间休的活动,如散步、听音乐等。她说这是大脑的恢复和治愈过程。

米尔还建议要定一个目标,达到目标后就停止复习。她说:“有些学生还没有达到目标就停

下来休息,结果他们的大脑还是不能很好地放松,因为大脑还一直想着‘我必须,我应该,我得……’”。如果你的大脑还在想着没有完成的目标,你应该顺势继续学习,直到你所读的材料中的自然停顿,然后定个休息时间,到街角的商店去走走。

换一换你所读的书也可以帮助大脑休息。一小时复习英语,下一个小时复习数学。就像在健身房里锻炼不同部位的肌肉一样。因为大脑不同的部位掌管着不同的学科。

布鲁克纳说在考试季最紧张的时候,要保持健康的大脑、健康的身体和良好的精神状态,要订一个时间表进行复习。

她说:“要制定一个月的时间表——什么时候交作业,什么时候期末考试,应该重点复习哪些地方等。”

第三篇

【参考译文】

所有的友谊都需要人们身体里发生某种化学作用。但是当性别不同的两个人成为朋友的时候,这种友好的感情就开始更像是两性之间的紧张关系。

男女之间的友谊可能会成为隐藏欲望的情感的矿床。这是不是意味着你私下里向往和所有的异性朋友上床呢?当然不是。但是你是否曾想过,如果有合适的机会,有多少人会对此感兴趣呢?也许你和你的柏拉图式的友谊会因一瓶美酒而打破,你们会越过界限而结合。

所以我们可以问一下:男人和女人是否可能仅仅是朋友关系?好莱坞对这个世纪之久的问题的回答是:绝对不可能。电影里的男女朋友总是超越朋友的界限。哈里和莎丽(美国电影 When Harry met Sally 中的主人公)、康德勒和莫尼卡(美国电视剧 Friends 中的人物)、吉姆和潘姆(美国电视剧 The Office 中的人物)等,还需要我举更多的例子吗?甚至电影《仅仅是朋友》中的人物最后也超出了电影名字所界定的范畴。电影故事表明,当漂亮的男女成为朋友后,他们总是会产生爱情,不管他们自己是否意识到这一点。

但是友谊是性爱前奏的理论又会有多少真实性呢?现实生活并不是爱情喜剧。男人和女人一起上学,一起工作,很多情况都是柏拉图式的,他们并没有相互坠入爱河。

去年我的一个好朋友和一位新男房客合租一套房子。我当时的反应就是“你们两个最终肯定要睡到一起”。在我看来孤男寡女同住在一个屋檐下,不可避免地要发生性关系。可是让我

吃惊的事,这两位室友间从未发生浪漫的事。几乎一年后,他们两个在对方面前从未穿着暴露过。而他们的生活方式就像一对无性婚姻的男女。他们互相为对方做饭,他们为家务事争吵,但坚持说他们从未想过性的事情。

第四篇

【参考译文】

它是世界上继玉米、小麦和水稻之后的第四大最重要粮食作物。比起其他农作物来说,它能提供更多的卡路里,生长时间更短,用地更少而且可以在不同的气候环境下生长。当然,它就是土豆。

联合国希望人们对土豆价值能有更好认识,这样有助于实现联合国千禧年的发展目标,帮助减轻贫困,推动经济发展。

土豆支持了 19 世纪英国的工业革命,促进了经济的发展。土豆提供了廉价的热量,又易于种植,因此解放了大量的农村劳动力。土豆在英国北部很流行,因为当地人以畜牧业和家庭手工业为主,而南方的农场主以种植小麦为主。正巧,北部地区又出产煤炭,以土豆为主食的人们为集中发展的新型工厂输送了大量的工人。恩格斯说土豆和钢铁一样起到了“革命性的历史作用”。

法式炸薯条加上汉堡包和可口可乐现在已成为全球化的象征。虽然在 16 世纪这些食物刚一推出时引起了欧洲社会的质疑,它还是引发了饮食业的巨大变化。土豆曾被认为只适合作动物饲料,并认为土豆有毒而且和恶魔相关。土豆开始扎根于 18 世纪的欧洲只是因为战争和饥荒使人们没有东西吃了,人们才意识到土豆的用途并开始以土豆为食。亚当·斯密说:“在这些国家土豆被普遍用作人们的食物足以说明一个国家在饮食方面的偏见,不管多么根深蒂固,也不是不可改变的。”不管是做成土豆泥、炸土豆、煮土豆还是烤土豆,小小的土豆改变了世界,为此人们应该庆幸。

【参考译文】

在很多西方国家,已有数量可观的家长把孩子从学校带回家自己教。这些孩子通常是在父亲或母亲的指导之下在家里进修所有的正规课程。让孩子在家上学首先需要考虑的是这样做是否合法。在多数国家是合法的,只要家长能证明自己的孩子在家里受到合格的、与国家教育体制提供的质量相当的教育即可。接下来要考虑的是家长是否有时间、有自制力、有学识、有耐心,可以周复一周、日复一日地一连几个小时教自己的孩子。然后的问题就是教什么、怎么教。

【高分作文】

Do you think awards and prizes can serve a useful purpose?

A prize or award, whether it's the Noble Prize, the Academy Award, or the Best Handwriting Award in an elementary school, is important. They can serve a useful purpose, because they can have economic, personal, and social effects that enrich the life of the winners.

Prizes like the Noble Prize are cash award. The winners are encouraged financially. They can use the money to improve their living and working conditions, and as we know that many of the winners use the money for their further research and studies. An award, like the Academy Award, gives people honors. This is also an encouragement to the recipients. For example, an actress who wins best actress with the Academy Award will be offered more roles and a higher pay than actresses who don't win. Even an elementary school boy who received the school's Best Handwriting Award will be proud of himself and may get a congratulation gift from his parents or grandparents.

The personal benefits of receiving any award are evident. Any award winner is pleased because he or she has been recognized as successful in his or her work. That's why when many people receive the Academy Award, they often cry because of happiness.

So we can say that awards and prizes serve a very useful purpose in encouraging people to work harder and to be more successful.

第一篇

【参考译文】

贾斯汀时刻准备着。他的座右铭是“什么东西都别扔,谁知道什么时候就用得上它们。”他的房间里堆满了没气的自行车轮胎、弯了的网球拍、瘪了的篮球、缺了零件的玩具,房间几乎都进不去人了。他父母肯求他把房间清理一下。

他爸爸问他:“渔缸底下破了个洞还能有什么用?”但是贾斯汀笑了笑,又重复他的座右铭“什么东西都别扔,谁知道什么时候就用得上它们”。

每当贾斯汀离开家时,他总是背上他的蓝背包。他喜欢把背包当作一个小型的房间,把许多收集来的东西都放在里面。背包又旧又破,几乎看不出原样了。包里装满了看起来不重要的东西,但只要用一点儿想象力就派得上用场。

贾斯汀有一个好名声,就是他总是想办法帮助别人摆脱困境。许多同学和邻居遇到困难需要帮助时都找他。开学的第一天他的朋友肯尼就来找贾斯汀。

他问:“你书包里有没有什么东西能让我想起我储物柜的密码?我把写着密码的那张纸给弄丢了。两分钟后我就要去上科学课,如果我第一天就迟到,这一年都会给人留下不好的印象。”肯尼看上去真的很着急。

贾斯汀拿出它的背包打开说:“别急。你记不记得你是借我的笔记本写下储物柜密码的?我知道怎么找回密码了。”

他从书包里拿出笔记本和一支软铅笔。肯尼写下密码的下一页纸上留下了轻轻的印痕。贾斯汀拿着铅笔用侧面轻轻地画,慢慢地白色的密码就在灰色的铅笔痕中清晰地显现出来了。

肯尼说:“太神了!谢谢你。”然后就急忙跑去开储物柜了。

第二篇

【参考译文】

埃里·那则米是弗吉尼亚罗尔诺科学院商务学教授。他刚刚宣布对课堂上使用手机采取零

容忍的政策,就听到手机铃声响了。他拿出一把小锤走向那名学生并砸碎了他的手机。全班同学的脸都吓白了。

这一幕正反映出了美国大学老师正受到越来越多的挑战——用《纽约时报》的话说是“新的阶级斗争(教室内的战争):也就是老师与高科技产品的战争。”幸运的是,这次砸手机的事件是事先计划好了的,它表明老师对于高科技产品干扰学生课堂上的注意力有多么的愤怒。

埃里·那则米教授现年55岁,他站在这种新型的老师与学生两代人分歧的前沿。这一分歧把两代人分开,老师们利用高科技产品是想使自己更聪明,而学生在课堂上用高科技产品会使自己变得更愚蠢。迈克尔·布杰雅是《人际关系划分:在科技时代寻求自己的圈子》一书的作者。或许可以引用他的话更确切:“生育高峰出生的一代人把高科技看作是信息的来源和通讯工具。而他们的孩子则把这些高科技产品看成是娱乐和社交的工具。”

布杰雅在网上对几百名学生进行了调查,大部分受访者说他们使用手机,用手机收发电邮,上课时间上社会网站。有1/4的受访者承认他们正坐在不同的教室里接受调查。

加拿大智能技术公司生产并销售一种设备叫做同步电子眼。它可以让老师在课堂里监督每个学生在计算机上的活动而且点一下鼠标就能停止他们的活动。去年该公司卖出了一万个执照。该公司的首席执行官南西·诺尔顿说最大的问题就是公司要保持走在试图破解密码的学生的前面。

第三篇

【参考译文】

美国研究人员说:像 iPod 等 MP3 数字音乐播放器的耳机会干扰心脏起搏器和除颤器。起搏器和除颤器是用来调解心跳节律的。研究人员在美国新奥尔良召开的美国心脏协会的大会上报告说:MP3 机本身对起搏器和除颤器没有什么危害。但是如果把它们放在 1.2 英寸之内的话,耳机内小小的强磁铁就能够干扰这些仪器。

波士顿医疗仪器安全研究所的威廉·迈塞尔博士领导的一组研究人员用八款 MP3 机的耳机对 60 位安装了起搏器和除颤器的患者进行了测试。他们把耳机放到患者的胸口,直接放在起

搏器和除颤器上面。耳机对 60 位患者中的 14 位,也就是说大约 1/4 患者的心脏起搏器产生影响,而对戴除颤器患者的影响是对起搏器患者影响的两倍。

会议中提出的另一项研究显示,装有某些无线技术的手机就不会影响起搏器的工作。

研究人员说如果心脏跳得过快或是过慢,植入体内的除颤器就会发出信号使心跳的节奏正常。磁铁可以使除颤器失效,使它对不正常的心率没有反应,因而不会发出电脉冲使它正常。

研究人员说,起搏器发出电子脉冲,加快或者降低心脏跳动的节奏,而磁铁传送信号时无视心脏跳动的节奏。

研究人员说如果把耳机拿开,一切就会恢复正常。

迈塞尔在电话采访中说:“这里主要的信息是患者可以正常用耳机,也就是说他们可以把耳机戴在耳朵上听音乐。但是他们不应该把耳机放在离起搏器和除颤器太近的地方。”

迈塞尔说,所以戴起搏器和除颤器的患者不听音乐的时候不要把耳机放在衬衫口袋或是离胸部较近的上衣口袋里,不要放在胸前,也不要让其他戴耳机的人把头放在患者的胸部。

第四篇

【参考译文】

从会生金蛋的鹅到龟兔赛跑,伊索寓言都是以传授给我们人生哲理而著称,而不是告诉我们真实的故事。但是一项新的研究显示至少有一个故事可能是真实发生过的。

这是一个关于口渴的乌鸦的故事。一只乌鸦碰到了一个水罐,罐里的水位太低,它喝不到。乌鸦就不断地向罐中投石子来提高水位。这个故事的哲理告诉我们:要有耐心,一点儿一点儿地做事,事情总会成功的,或者告诉我们需要是发明之母。

现在科学家报告说有一种乌鸦的近亲叫 rook,它们就用同样的投石子的方法吃到了漂在水上的虫子。这个利用三只鸟做的实验结果发表在网络杂志《当代生物学》上。

过去的实验已经表明 rook 和乌鸦一样可以使用工具。剑桥大学的克里斯托弗·博德和他的同事把一个 6 英寸高的透明塑料管中装上水,水上漂着一只虫子,然后放到几只 rook 面前。这些鸟很自然地采用了投石子的办法,而且看起来它们还会估算共需要多少石子。它们很快就

知道了大的石子更好用。

在一份附带的注解中,新西兰奥克兰大学的 Alex Taylor 和 Russell Gray 说:在一项更早的实验中,这些鸟向试管中投石子,打破了管底,吃到了从管底掉出来的食物。所以它们在看到新实验中的试管后,又采取了同样的策略。但是博德的论文说,没那么简单。他们说 rook 鸟投了很多石子才吃到虫子,而不是一个,而且它们是从管子的上部而不是底部吃到食物的。

研究人员还说伊索寓言中的乌鸦可能就是 rook,因为在过去这两种鸟都被叫做乌鸦。

第四部分 英译汉

【参考译文】

当你说话或写作时,没有法则规定你一定要用大词,因为小词可以达到同样的效果。很多小词(如 sun, grass, home 等)是语言的精华。有许多小词具有大词无法比拟的威力和魅力,能够满足你的各种需要。

大词能使你的听众或读者不清楚你的意思,而短词明亮,似黑夜中闪烁的火花。

如果一个长词能恰如其分地表达思想,那就大胆地使用。但是要知道,我们的语言充满了劲健有力、活泼敏捷的小词。让小词成为你言谈和文章的脊柱和心脏,宛如忠诚的朋友,它们永远不会使你失望。

【解析】

这是一段 133 词的段落,不太难理解,共 8 句话。要求 25 分钟完成翻译,共计 15 分。这段短文的特点是句子都不长,结构也不太复杂。

在这段翻译中要注意的是:

1. 对词汇特别是一些词组的理解要准确。如:as good as:像……一样好;make the way dark:使……不清楚;the spine and the heart:脊柱和心脏(或主要结构和中心);let ... down:使……失望。

2. 对句子结构的理解要准确。如:A lot of small words can meet your needs with a strength, grace and charm that large words lack. 这里 that 引导的是定语从句,修饰前面的 strength, grace and charm。又如:like sparks that glow in the night。

第五部分 短文写作

【解析】

这是一篇提纲作文。文体为阐述性论说文。要求考生正面阐述自己的观点:认为游戏对成年人是否重要,并举例说明自己的理由。考生写作时要紧扣标题,开门见山地说出自己的观点,

确立文章的中心思想,然后再分层次举例说明自己的理由。举例要贴切,说服力要强。

提纲作文一定要囊括所给提纲中包含的全部内容,但也不要拘泥于提纲,更不能逐字翻译提纲,要自己发挥。

【高分作文】

Do You Think Games Are as Important for Adults as They Are for Children?

Everyone likes to play games. So I think games are important at any age, because by playing games we can keep our mind sharp, learn new things, and maintain social skills.

People say you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Modern research has shown that senior citizens can continue to grow brain cells by exercising their mind. Games are a great way to exercise your mind. By concentrating on the tactics of the game, memorizing moves, keeping track of your opponents' strategies, you can keep your brain functioning and growing.

Some games can teach you a lot. Games that ask questions, for example, will show you what you don't know. (Name the capital of Albania, for example.) It is always easier to learn something when you realize you don't know it.

When you play a game, you have to be considerate of your opponents. You can observe people's reactions and the way they interact as they play. It is always interesting to play with other people, as maintaining personal contacts is important for everyone.

Regardless of your age, playing games can help you keep your mind alert, learn new things, and build friendship.

第四部分 高频词汇
